

IRVINE REAL ESTATE BLOG

Welcome to the real estate blog

Irvine Homes is a real estate blog that covers the ins and outs of the Irvine housing market. For up-to-the-minute information on the latest local housing news, go to irvinehomes.free-domblogging.com.

ERIKA CHAVEZ

WHAT MAKES A GOOD AGENT? • Irvine real estate agent "Mac" Mackenzie led his team to $75.5 million in home sales during 2008, according to The Wall Street Journal/LORE Top 400

Rankings. Mackenzie leads Coldwell Banker's Mackenzie Advantage Team, which focuses on luxury listings in Coto de Caza but also sells homes in all price ranges throughout Orange County. The team ranked #82 under Top 100 Teams By Sales Volume.

This new office building just sold for $160 million, 40 percent off its construction price. > COURTESY PHOTO

For those of you who have purchased a home in Irvine: is there a listing agent you would recommend? What makes a good agent, and what makes a bad one? Weigh in!

1 OUT OF 4 IRVINE HOMES LISTINGS DISTRESSED • About 1 in 4 homes listed for sale in Irvine is a foreclosure or short sale, according to a report by Steven Thomas of Altera Real Estate. This is a slight decrease from

Thomas' last report on April 30, when nearly 30 percent of listings were distressed. According to Thomas' newest report, as of June 11, 2009:

591 properties were listed for sale. 155 of those properties were either foreclosures or short sales.

That means 26.2 percent of Irvine listings are distressed properties.

Countywide, distressed properties make up 32.9 percent of all listings, down from 35.9% six weeks ago.

NEW OFFICE BUILDING SOLD AT 40% DISCOUNT • Maguire Properties Inc. recently sold a new Irvine office building for about $160 million, an estimated 40 percent discount off the construction cost, according to The Wall Street Journal. The building, at 3161 Michelson Drive, was completed in 2007 and has leased about 60 percent of units. It was originally slated to be anchored by New Century Financial Corp., a now-defunct subprime mortgage lender. The 19-story building was purchased by the Emmes Group, a privately owned real estate investment company.

Read more of Erika's blog at irvinehomes.free-domblogging.com

IRVINE WORLD NEWS STAFF

NEWS

Team Leader: Paul Danison
949-553-2910, pdanison@ocregister.com

Editor: Don Dennis
949-553-2912, ddennis@ocregister.com

Sports Editor: Tim Burt
949-553-2917, tburt@ocregister.com

Reporter: Cameron Bird
949-553-2915, cbird@ocregister.com

Reporter: Sean Emery
949-553-2911, semery@ocregister.com

Reporter: Erika Chavez
949-553-2914, echavez@ocregister.com

Photographer: Miguel Vasconcellos
949-553-2909, mvasconcellos@ocregister.com

ADVERTISING MANAGER

Ray Arroyo
949-454-7331; rarroyo@ocregister.com
Advertising fax 949-454-7388

Classified: 877-469-7344

Published Thursdays and Saturdays
by The Orange County Register,
2006 McGaw Ave., Irvine, CA 92614

• www.ocregister.com/irvine irvineworldnews@ocregister.com

SERVING THE COMMUNITY SINCE 1970

THE ORANGE COUNTY
REGISTER

Great Father's Day Find

Jack's Surfboards is offering 20 - 30% off all clothing from June 18 through 25.

Irvine real estate agent "Mac" Mackenzie led his team to $75.5 million in home sales during 2008, according to The Wall Street Journal/LORE Top 400 Rankings. Mackenzie leads Coldwell Banker's Mackenzie Advantage Team, which focuses on luxury listings in Coto de Caza but also sells homes in all price ranges throughout Orange County. The team ranked #82 under Top 100 Teams By Sales Volume.

Crown Ace also has a variety of tools and home improvement items that make great gifts for Dads.

Prepared and paid for by
Irvine Company Retail Properties